SPARSH stands as a prominent Indian brand specializing in CCTV cameras and electronic security solutions. Its inception in 2002 marked the beginning of a transformative era in Indian electronic security manufacturing. With the operation of three in-house manufacturing units and 1 upcoming anchor unit in Kashipur with the 1mn per month capacity SPARSH exemplifies the vision of Atmanirbhar Bharat by locally producing both software and hardware components. The company allocates approximately 8 percent of its annual revenue to research and development and with Sparsh Department of Science and Technology recognized in-house R&D center
